BIO —

Khevna is an independent singer-songwriter who turns emotion into art. Born in India and based in Lagos(Nigeria), she blends Hindi and English lyrics with indie-soul textures and Afro-pop rhythms, creating a sound that's both deeply personal and globally resonant.

Her latest single LONELY marks a bold step into Afro-culture—a sensual, vulnerable track that pulses with longing and liberation. With other releases like No Way, Qaynaat, Kyu, Socha Tha; Khevna has carved out her sonic space as someone unafraid to explore emotional chaos, romantic tension, and self-transformation.

Her songs often feel like private voice notes or journal entries set to melody—soft but strong, intimate but universally felt. She doesn't chase trends. She lets the feeling lead. Whether it's heartbreak, desire, or quiet rebellion, Khevna's music lets you sit with your truth.

As an artist, she's building her identity outside the lines mixing cultures, sounds, and emotional worlds to create something unmistakably hers.

LATEST RELEASE —

TRACK — DESCRIPTION

“Lonely” is the latest Afro-Hindi pop release from rising artist Khevna, offering a genre-bending blend of emotive storytelling and infectious rhythm. The track explores the vulnerability of love on the edge, when someone you can't let go of is already pulling away.

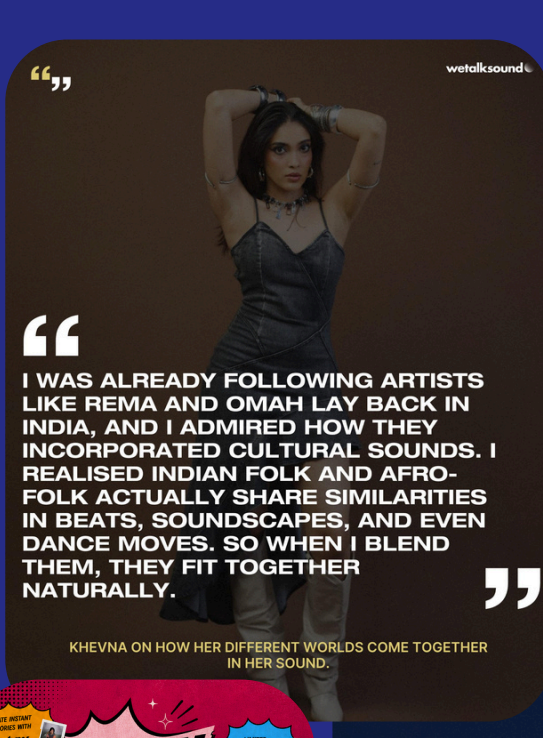

Switching seamlessly between Hindi and English, Khevna brings a unique sonic and cultural duality to the table. Lyrics like “Tere dil mein mere siva aur kaun” echo the timeless ache of longing, while the Afro-inspired production keeps the pulse moving beneath the heartache.

With “Lonely”, Khevna carves a space that's emotionally rich, sonically fresh, a track that speaks to the universal fear of abandonment while inviting the listener to move, feel, and remember.
